DETAILED ACTION

This communication is in response to applicant's 09/09/2003 amendment/responses in the application of McCLOGHRIE et al. for "SAMPLING PACKETS FOR NETWORK MONITORING" filed 06/29/1998. The amendments/response to the claims have been entered. No claims have been canceled. No claims have been added. Claims 3, 5-7, 9-44 are now pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 7, 10, 25-26, 29, 31, and 43-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Phaal (US 5,315,580) in view of Lo (US 5,559,801).

Regarding claims 7, 10, 25-26, 29, 31, and 43-44, Phaal discloses a network monitoring device includes a receive means for detecting and receiving message packets carried on a network (an input port for receiving network packets), a sampling means for selecting a number of packets detected by the receive means (a sampling element for selecting a fraction of those packets for review), and a processing means for collecting and processing data from packets selected by the sampling means; wherein the sampling means select packets in a deterministic manner either on the basis of selecting every nth packet or on the basis of selecting the first packet detected after a fixed interval (see col. 1 lines 62 to col. 2 line 39).

In addition, Phaal discloses the size (threshold) of the receive and transmit FIFO buffers 25 and 26 can be quite small, for example sufficient to hold only two or three entries (see col. 5 line 66 to col. 6 line 12); and the collected packets sent out by the monitoring devices 12 over the network are all received by the measurement station 13 which stores these packets and carries out subsequent processing and analysis (see col. 6 line 27 to col. 7 line 37).

Furthermore, Phaal discloses the random selection of received packet header is based on the predetermined random counts stored in ROM 22 (see col. 4 lines 57-59). Also, the random numbers may be generated by the processor 21 (see col. 6 lines 30-43).

Phaal fails to disclose a feedback element for adaptively altering a fraction of packets for review that is response to a length of a queue of selected packets.

Lo, on the other hand, discloses a method for sampling packets by a programmable packet sampling apparatus in a network management system. The method includes receiving packets from a plurality of input ports, and selecting packets for sampling, by a packet sampler 75, sampling data packets based on a predetermined values or sampling values; and outputting a disrupt data packet. The sampler 75 includes a queue 110 and queue control 112 for controlling the queue 110 (see figures 5 and 6; and col. 10 lines 19-33; col. 11 line 20-33).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention was made to replace the receive and transmit FIFO buffers 25 and 26 of Phaal with the queue 110 and queue control 112 of Lo in order to provides the queue system with ability to monitor the length of queue when storing the sampled packets –thus avoid overloading the traffic sampling element by stopping or decreasing the sampling rate.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3-6, 22-24, and 27-28 are allowed.

Claims 9, 11-21, 30, 32-42 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
